Works in Progress

Essentialism and the Essence of what it is to be Necessary, Under review at Philosophical Studies, Springer

I argue that if necessity is grounded in essence, the necessity of essence should be essential to what it is to be necessary.

Belief Revision with Truthmaker Semantics

I develop several hyperintensional AGM-style belief revision frameworks with the resources from Finean truthmaker semantics to model local rationality.

Demystifying Anchoring, B.A. thesis, National Taiwan University. Advisor: Prof. Duen-Min Deng.

I argue that anchoring need not be a sui generis metaphysical relation by examining various possible cases of exportation.

Abstract Object Theory and the Fictionally Fictional, NSTC Research Project for College Students. Advisor: Prof. Hsien-Chieh Nihel Jhou.

I present a counterargument against Zalta's abstract object theory from the case of fictional fictions and their objects.
